

Democracy and the Noncitizens

Seminar for refugees and international students

Democracy and the Noncitizens

Seminar for refugees and international students

What is democracy, what role plays Citizenship? How could Noncitizens act politically in a democratic system? Why are there still obstacles for a "world-citizenship"? Is there a visible change in the German political system according to questions of citizenship
and participation?

The Seminar "Democracy and the Noncitizens" tries to answer these questions, by regarding developments of democracy
theory and the German system.

*If you are interested in politics, but even if you are not so familiar with political questions at all:
Learn about the ideas of democracy from a new perspective, learn to see the political system in Germany more critically and contribute to the discussion with experiences from your home countries.*

When: 18 April 2015. 11 o'clock

Where: House project "Kompott", Leipziger
Straße 3 Chemnitz.

You don't have to spend any money.
There will be something to eat and drink.

What is democracy, what role plays
Citizenship? How could Noncitizens act
politically in a democratic system? Why are there still obstacles for a "world-citizenship"? Is there a visible change in the German political system according to questions of citizenship
and participation?

The Seminar "Democracy and the Noncitizens" tries to answer these questions, by
regarding developments of democracy
theory and the German system.

*If you are interested in politics, but even if you
are not so familiar with political questions at all:
Learn about the ideas of democracy from a new perspective, learn to see the political system in Germany more critically and contribute to the
discussion with experiences from your home
countries.*

When: 18 April 2015. 11 o'clock

Where: House project "Kompott", Leipziger
Straße 3 Chemnitz.

You don't have to spend any money.
There will be something to eat and drink.

DA